THE EDMONDS HOUSING EXPERIENCE

Create friendships that could last a lifetime. By living with a local host family or roommates in a residence hall, you can: make new friends, connect to campus resources, become a student leader, and learn to live in a multicultural student community.

One bill takes care of all quarterly costs! Rent, utilities, and Wi-Fi are included in the payment(s) for housing in our on- and off-campus residence halls. Unpaid bills by roommates will not affect your costs, services, or credit score.

Our caring, supportive staff are available 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Their energy and commitment to building strong communities of students helps our residents feel connected and to know that they matter.

Our campus connections can't be beat. Academic advising, career directions, health and wellness information: We know the resources to connect you directly with an expert.

Living in a community helps develop leadership skills and prepares students for independence.

Maintenance staff and cleaning of public spaces provides a healthy, well-maintained environment for the community.

A student-focused community provides value and enhances academic success. Everything we do is focused on the needs of our residents.

They plan events each quarter for students to get to know everyone in their community.

Find out how you can become an RA at edmonds.edu/housing/contact/residential-assistants.html

HOMESTAY

For the past 40 years, Edmonds College has worked closely with local families in our community through its Homestay program. By living with a family, students can make new friends and improve their English skills as they experience family life in the United States.

To ensure the safety of our students, families are carefully selected, interviewed, and a home inspection is conducted as part of the approval process. Every adult living in the Homestay family must go through a background check.

Ongoing support is provided to students placed in Homestay by Housing Office staff.

WHAT IS AN IM?
