

Kit U Leong - Macau, China

I came to Edmonds Community College in Fall 2001 and graduated in Spring 2002. At first I had no idea what EdCC would be like because my agent helped me to choose this college. However, after I came, I found I really liked the college! I spent my first quarter in ESL classes. I used to think that taking ESL classes is a waste of time, but now I am glad I took it. It gave me a period of time to "buffer" my culture shock and get used to the differences in the way of teaching and studying between Macau and America! Moreover, I met a lot of good friends in ESL classes!! We had parties!! Celebrations, etc..... Lots of FUN!!

My major was accounting. I studied in EdCC for six quarters. Although ESL class is more fun, I like college classes as well. Compared to the university I am attending, the size of EdCC's college classes is smaller and professors are more accessible. I could easily find help whenever I needed it.

I would definitely choose EdCC again!! First, Seattle is a really nice city! I miss it so much! Second, the advisors and professors in EdCC take care of international students a lot! That is the difference I found out after I transferred to a four-year institution.

I really love the International Student Services at EdCC; it makes me feel like home!! They take care of international students meticulously! Here in New York my university adviser can't really take care of everyone due to the huge size of student body.

University of Buffalo \(UB\) has a huge campus. I am trying to adapt to the life here since it's so much different from Seattle. The school is nice and professional. I am pursuing my Accounting Bachelor degree, and try my best to get a teaching assistantship for graduate school. I always talk about EdCC and tell my friends about all stories that happened in Seattle.
