Edmonds Community College offers reduced tuition to Senior Citizens who wish to take courses for personal enrichment and life-long learning purposes. Please note: Self-Support, Community Education, and Business Training Center courses are not eligible for the reduced tuition programs.

Seniors who wish to receive the reduced tuition may only sign up for qualifying classes on an audit basis. This means students will not receive credit or a grade for the class. In place of the regular tuition rates, students will be charged $5 per course, plus fees. Students who audit courses are allowed to sit in the class and receive instruction. Actual participation in assignments, projects, etc., is at the discretion of the instructor.

Senior Citizens who wish to participate in one of the reduced tuition programs are subject to the following conditions:

- Must be at least 60 years of age by the first day of the quarter.
- Must be a WA state resident who has currently lived in the state for 12 consecutive months or longer.
- Do not register yourself for classes! On or after the first day of the quarter, you must obtain instructor permission on a space-available basis*. If you email** the instructor to ask for permission, you may forward their response, with this form attached, to registration@edmonds.edu. You may also print this form and the email out and submit them in-person to the Enrollment Services office, 1st floor LYN hall. Be aware that this waiver form must be completed each quarter.
- Limited to no more than two courses per quarter.
- Courses must be audited (no credit or grades will be awarded for the class.)
- Courses cannot be used to earn a degree or certificate.
- Courses cannot be used to meet job requirements resulting in certification or salary increases.

*Space-available means that there must be a seat that would otherwise go unoccupied. If instructor's permission is obtained before the first day of the quarter, it'll be rejected and new permission must be obtained. Please note: if you enroll or waitlist before the first day of the quarter, you can't use the tuition waiver. (Strictly enforced).

**Make sure the email clearly mentions the exact class and its unique class number (e.g. "ENGL 101, class #12345"). You should also clarify that it's for a space-available tuition waiver.
